MURDOCK'S CATARRH CURE.

IT GOES TO EVERY PART.
SURE, SAFE AND PLEASANT.

For years has the medical fraternity sought a reliable and sure cure for Catarrh. In this endeavor many hundreds of remedies have been offered to a suffering public, and the health of the world has been imperiled by taking them. These various compounds containing the worst form of opium, have done more harm than good, as it is impossible to reach the affected parts in this manner.

Murdoch's Catarrh Cure is a new and scientific preparation and is to be used in a simple, pleasant and sure way. It is the only remedy that will cure all cases of Catarrh, no matter what stage, and cure where treatment is continued for reasonable time. No matter how little you are affected, don't delay treatment. Catarrh comes often from simple colds. Like all low and reliable preparations you will find that others have tried and are just as good. Beware of imitations, as they are worthless.

GRAIN TRUST.

BY WHICH FIVE MEN HOLD UP THE FARMERS LIKE HIGHWAYMEN.

(New York Journal.)

One of the most important trusts that will control Congress at its coming session will be the passage of some money bill calculated to carry out the intent of the Interstate Commerce Law, which has practically become a dead letter.

At the recent session of the sub-committee of the Industrial Commission at Chicago, evidence was given by the through distributing railroads in favor of a combination of capitalists Mr. Phil D. Armour and four associates were in absolute control of the grain markets of the West.

In the absence of competition, these men can pay the farmers starvation prices for their grain. Or, if necessary, to create competition, the discrimination in their favor by the railroads enables them to pay two or three cents more per bushel than any competitor can profitably afford.

In other words, the railroads are the foundation stones upon which is built a most unjust system of trust monopoly. Their system of rates in favor of big combinations is nothing less than highway robbery. The fact that Armour owns 15,000 cars enables him to make vast sums on the mileage of his cars alone.

Chas. Cushman, one of the Big Five, testified before the committee that he and his fellow conspirators met daily and fixed the price of grain for the following day. They are undoubtedly enabled to do this through rate discrimination on the part of the railroads. This discrimination in some instances is as high as nine cents a hundred pounds in favor of grain as against flour for export.

This discrimination has shut down or put upon half time most of the large flourmills throughout the country. Every day the railroads are strengthening their position as unprincipled and extortionate dealers in the country's merchandise.

Nothing short of government ownership of railroads will abolish the evil. It is becoming more evident every day that the corporations have no more regard for the laws of the country than for the thousands of small dealers whom they ruin annually.

VERY SORE

K. E. BENTS URGES THAT THEIR REPRESENTATIVE OUTLINED ALL COMPETITORS IN DECLAMATORY CONTEST.

(Lexington Herald.)

Many contestants have been lost and won since organization of the inter-collegiate declamatory contest, but never was there a crowd of boys so downcast and weebone as the K. E. B. delegation, which arrived in the C. & O. Saturday morning from Richmond.

"To lose is bad enough," said one, "but to win and then have the decision taken from you is tough luck."

The boys say that the majority of the audience, all of the S. C. and most of the W. C. delegations, a number of C. U. boys and even some of the S. E. M. Rowell's own fraternity brothers say that Mr. Porter, the K. E. U. man, should have had the decision. They say that all the speakers did well, but that in getting behind his piece in naturalness, in dramatic ability and in expression and magnetism, Mr. Porter outclassed his opponents and that he did not do that well. John H. Smith failed to come and so the decision was rendered by two judges, Prof. C. M. Best and Elder H. B. Clark. The boys say that they are not alone in their soreness and that a number of indignant persons from the audience took the position that they had been unfairly treated.

TOOK HIM AT HIS WORD.

The faculty of time and forceful speech is ordinarily and advantage, but occasionally a man gets hoisted by his own petard. A hustling young New Yorker who was recently established in a branch of the oil business had set out to get the patronage of a certain firm. The head of the concern was reluctant to make a change.

"The oil we have been getting has not been unsatisfactory," said he, "and I fail to see why we should make a change to another oil." How do you propose to improve on the old quality?"

"In this way," was the prompt answer. "I propose to give the business my personal attention. I intend to put some of my brains into every barrel of oil we send out."

The rejoinder pleased the old gentleman, and he became a customer. A few months later the hustling young man was obliged to make a journey, and in his absence, through some oversight, the quality of oil was allowed to deteriorate. It was quickly noted, and a letter on file in the office records of the protest. It reads: "Gentlemen—When we were induced to see your product, we were assured that Mr. Blank put some of his brains into every barrel of oil. We deeply regret to find that the oil we have been getting has not been unsatisfactory," said he, "and I fail to see why we should make a change to another oil." How do you propose to improve on the old quality?"

The wife seeks to satisfy her husband's craving, by society. "Always roasting with hungry heart," the husband finds the bone dull and goes to the club. The happiest homes are those which echo to the love and laughter of children voices.

The conditions which preclude motherhood are often remedied. They grow out of a diseased or enfeebled condition of the female organs. When these conditions are removed, and vitality and elasticity given to the organs of motherhood, it frequently follows that the home is gladdened by the coming of a healthy, happy infant.

"I had been a sufferer from uterine trouble for about three years, having two miscarriages in that time, and the doctor that I consulted said I would have to go through an operation before I could give birth to living children," writes Mrs. Bessie E. Evans of Parsons, Kansas. "I was advised to give up in despair, but I saw the advertisement of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and after taking it I feel better than I did before. NEW YORK FASHIONS.

The most fashionable evening wraps are long palstos.

The prevalent idea of having petticoats and corset cover in one piece is good, and it reduces the size of the waist in effect, and it parts great trimness and flexibility to the figure.

The long Caracul jacket is simple in outline, but very smart and useful.

The passion for velvet gowns finds artistic manifestation in an exquisite fashion shown by Lord & Taylor. It is of the lovely new shade of "blue velvet" and is made with trained skirt and waistcoat having white apertures bordered with garlands in many colors.

Under the charming princess gown so much in vogue, no more fitting contrast is to be worn than the K. & G. could be. It is the prettiest of dress and comfort, and has, everywhere, the countenance of careful and artistic dressers.

Ruby velvet, lightly embroidered with gold, makes a superb costume.

RELIGIOUS.

Richmond friends of this well-known minister will read the following with interest from Sunday's Courier Journal:

"The study, really the 'thinking place' of the Rev. Carter Holm Jones, is for greater quiet and privacy. In the third story of his home, near the corner of First and Ormsby avenues. This place is entirely given up to the denominational work, in which the young pastor is making so great a reputation. It is a cosy room, book-lined and cheerful. On the walls are many photographs associated with Mr. Jones' student days, his class of '95 in the Southern Baptist Seminary, the original 'Shakespeare Seven' of which he was a member, and the living literary club of Knoxville. Tapes at the door hang some beautiful photographs of the Robert E. Lee Memorial at Lexington, Va.

Here the pastor of the Broadway Baptist church studies three or four hours each morning in preparation for that magnetic extemporaneous speaking which draws to the church some of the largest congregations in the city. Here he reads the inspiration and conspires which enables this pastor to announce his exhortations of ideas and feeling. Not a word of any discourse is written, rarely arranged in his mind. The charm of Mr. Jones' speaking is its spontaneity.

For the winter the evening discourses have taken the popular form of 'Exhortations from the Bible' (from Solomon) and to the preparation of these much time and earnest consideration is now given, as they are to portray this city's evils so that they may be righted.

The eloquence of Mr. Jones' addresses causes him to be much sought after as a speaker at commencements, also for literary lectures in colleges, etc. In this small room these addresses are thought out and molded, so that later the strength of the speaker can be given to the play of the imagination and force of delivery which are the characteristics of his sermons and addresses."
